

2010 Quadricentennial Legacy Grants

Native American Writers Series

Organization: ADK Center for Writing, Paul Smith's College
Contact Person: Nathalie Thill
Mailing Address: PO Box 265, Paul Smiths, NY 12970
Phone: 518-327-6278
E-mail: info@adirondackcenterforwriting.org
Website: <http://www.adirondackcenterforwriting.org/index.php?p=98>

Project Summary

Starting in July, 2011 and ending August 27, 2011, the Adirondack Center for Writing (ACW) presented five regional Native American writers—David Fadden, Doug George, Joe Bruchac, Jesse Bruchac, and Robin Kimmere—at four events in New York and Vermont.

The ACW carefully chose organizations or institutions that have a deep appreciation for the cultural legacy of Native Americans in the region. Each venue helped to promote the events, mobilizing their membership base and their local media sources. Attendance at these events was impressive and a direct result of the collaboration between ACW and each of these partners.

Each of the following partners hosted one of the readings:

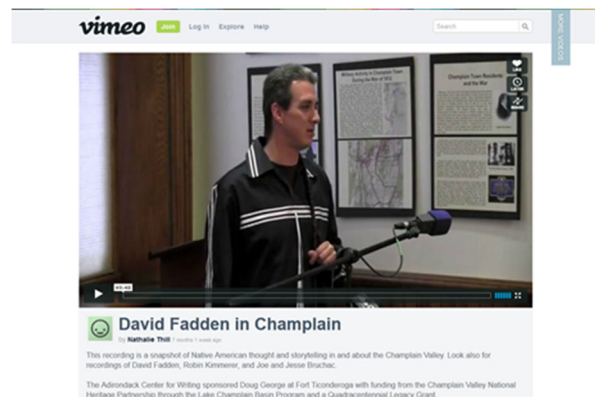

- 1) Fort Ticonderoga, Ticonderoga, New York.
- 2) Samuel Champlain Cultural Center, Champlain, New York
- 3) ECHO, Burlington, Vermont
- 4) The Paul Smiths VIC, Paul Smiths, New York

Each of these events was professionally videotaped by Joel Hurd of North Country Public Radio. Links to videos of the events are available at :

<http://www.adirondackcenterforwriting.org/index.php?p=98>

Abenaki storytellers can be found at You Tube.

Mohawk storyteller David Fadden's presentation in Champlain, New York is available on Vimeo.

NEIWPCC Code	LS-2011-064
Date Complete:	Oct. 6, 2011
Grant Amount:	$8,000.00
Non-federal Match:	N/A
Total Amount:	$8,000.00