Water's Edge Trail Bicycle Loop

Route Description

This winding loop travels along the AuSable River as it meanders down to the shores of Lake Champlain, offering views of the Adirondack Mountains and the river valley. The route goes through Clintonville, once a bustling iron ore mining community which almost became the capital of New York State. The Water's Edge Trail offers options of visiting the historic village of Keeseville, or going on to Port Kent where you can take a ferry to Burlington, Vermont, or on Amtrak Train to Montreal, Albany or New York City.
